About Architizer and the A+Awards

Architizer is the leading online resource for architecture. Through its vast building database, daily content, Source marketplace, and A+Awards, it is revolutionizing the way architects connect with building product manufacturers and the world beyond.

The Architizer A+Awards is the world's largest and most visible architecture awards program. It is also the only red carpet event to honor the year's best architecture.

The History of the Awards

Launched in 2013, the A+Awards consists of three core areas.

Typology – While architects do many things, at the core of their profession, they make buildings and spaces. These categories celebrate traditional building types, ranging from residential, office, and commercial to transportation, landscape, and cultural.

Plus – These awards are designed to showcase how architects build relationships. They celebrate the intersection of architecture and light, art, communication, technology, and more. The Plus categories also include unbuilt projects and conceptual designs.

Product – Every architect and interior designer knows that it takes spectacular products and materials to make their vision a reality. We are proud to present products that speak to the solutions that matter most to architects.

The Jury

Comprised of 400+ luminaries across architecture and other industries, our jury includes both the people who make buildings and the people who help make great buildings happen. Each category has a Popular Choice winner in addition to Jury winners, with hundreds of thousands of design enthusiasts and professionals voting for their favorites from around the globe.

White Office Building Tehran, Iran

This office and retail building combines a curtain wall and a pattern of white horizontal aluminum louvers to create a facade that stands out from its surroundings.

White Office Building is a project totaling 16,150 square feet (1,500 square meters) that sits along one of the busiest streets of Shahrak-e Gharb, a planned town located in the northwestern part of Tehran, Iran.

The office complex, comprised of five levels of open workspace and a double-height retail front, features an iconic double-skin glazed facade equipped with white aluminum louvers arranged horizontally. At every level, louvers are interrupted along their length to form an opening, bringing in natural ventilation, and in front of which an automatic irrigation system is installed.
